 01 WHO WE ARE

A Nigerian organisation working so girls can shape their own futures.

Girl Child Care Advancement Initiative (GCCAI) is a Nigerian non-profit founded by Oiza Alonge in 2018.

Many girls in Nigeria have the ability and the ambition, but not the access. School fees, books, sanitary pads, early marriage, violence and fixed ideas about what girls should become all narrow the road ahead.

Since 2018, GCCAI has helped girls through school, run mentorship and seminars, and spoken up on issues that affect girls, from period poverty to gender-based violence.

In October 2026 we began a deliberate restart. We are rebuilding GCCAI as a focused organisation with clear programmes, honest measurement and strong partners. We want to connect girls to more than support. We want to connect them to opportunity.

02 WHAT WE STAND FOR

OUR VISION

A Nigeria where every girl has the access, support and freedom to shape her own future.

Rooted in every girl's right to survival, protection, participation and self-fulfilment.

OUR MISSION

To connect girls in Nigeria to the education, mentors, skills and opportunities they need, and to clear the barriers in their way.

We work with girls, and with the families, schools and communities around them, on the financial, social and cultural barriers that hold girls back.

OUR VALUES

Four values, summed up as RIDD, guide how we work.

R

Respect

We treat every girl as a person with rights, ideas and choices, never as a project.

I

Integrity

We tell the truth about what we do, what it costs and what changes. We never inflate results.

D

Discipline

We do fewer things and do them well, with safeguarding and measurement built in.

D

Drive

We follow through. Our commitment to a girl lasts longer than a single event.

03 WHY WE EXIST

Talent is everywhere in Nigeria. Access is not.

Nigeria now enrolls more children in school than at any time in the last decade. But millions of girls still leave school early, marry young or grow up with violence. Each of these closes doors that are hard to reopen.

WHERE WE STAND

Girls have rights and agency now, not only as future mothers, citizens or leaders. We oppose systems that control girls' lives and justify violence against them. We affirm every girl's right to bodily autonomy, and we work with boys to challenge harmful ideas about masculinity.

THE BARRIERS WE SEEFinancial

Fees, uniforms, books, transport and sanitary products. Girls are often the first to stay home.

Social

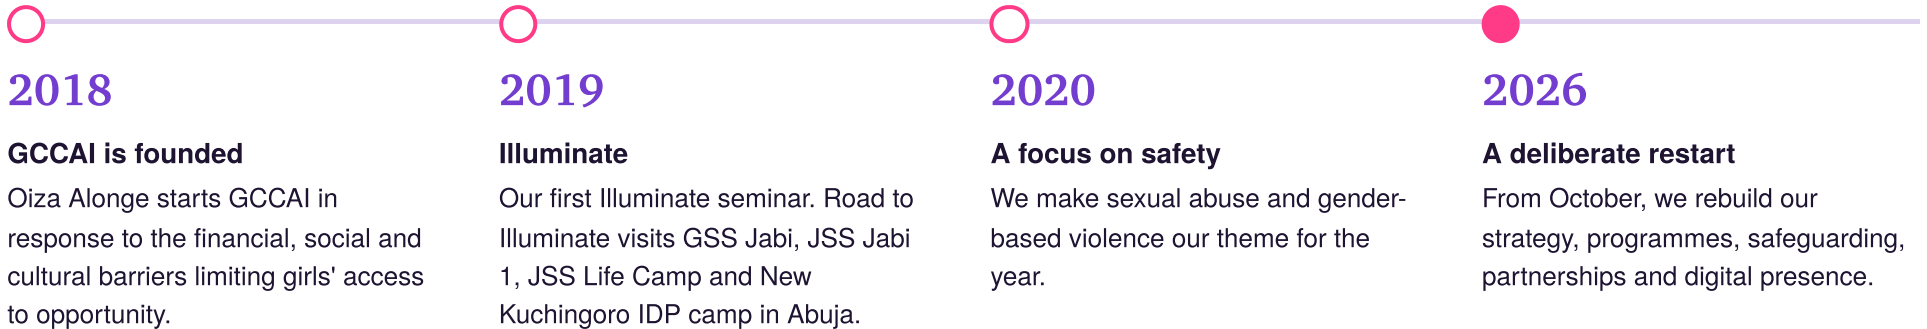

Early marriage, violence and unsafe journeys to school push girls out of learning.

Cultural

Beliefs about what girls should do shape the choices they are given.

04 OUR STORY SO FAR

It began with girls we knew by name.

WHAT WE HAVE DONE

- Illuminate. A seminar that brings people together to name the issues girls face and find solutions.
- Sponsor A Girl. School fees, uniforms, books and supplies for girls in primary and secondary school.
- Walks of Life. Mentorship with Mentor Me Initiative on careers, self-esteem, peer pressure and money.
- Menstrual health and learning materials. Sanitary products and the materials girls need to learn.

WHAT WE LEARNED

Goodwill is not a system. Our early work ran on volunteers, member dues and one-off events. It helped girls, but it was hard to sustain and harder to measure.

The new GCCAI is built to last: fewer programmes, clearer outcomes, steady funding.

 05 WHAT WE DO

Three areas of focus. One question behind them all.

We do not start by asking how to help girls. We ask: what needs to be true for a girl to have more say over what she becomes?

01

Access to education

Helping girls enrol, stay and finish school. That means fees, learning materials, and menstrual health support so no girl misses class because of her period.

Builds on Sponsor A Girl and our learning-materials work

02

Mentorship and pathways

Structured mentorship, career exposure, skills and networks that help girls make informed decisions about school, work and life.

Builds on Walks of Life and our mentorship work

03

Voice and safety

Safe spaces, platforms like Illuminate, and work with families, schools and boys to reduce violence and shift the beliefs that hold girls back.

Builds on Illuminate and our advocacy work

We are now designing our first flagship programme within these areas, with girls, schools and partners. It will launch only once safeguarding, delivery and measurement are in place.

06 HOW WE WORK

Useful over impressive. Outcomes over activity. Girls over optics.

These principles guide every programme, partnership and piece of communication we produce.

01 Start with the girl

We design around what girls want and the specific barrier in their way, not around what looks good in a report.

02 Measure what changes

Every programme has a baseline, a target and a way to hear from girls themselves. We report outcomes, not just activity.

03 Safeguarding first

A safeguarding policy, consent and screened, trained volunteers come before any work with girls. We never publish identifying details of a minor without consent.

04 Partner locally

We work with schools, communities and organisations already close to girls.

05 Build an institution

Systems, records and shared knowledge that let GCCAI keep working and growing.

07 WHERE WE ARE NOW

The restart: October to December 2026.

01

Foundation

Confirm our strategy and the girls we will serve first. Put safeguarding, governance and basic operating systems in place.

02

Programmes

Research the needs of the girls we will serve and design our first flagship programme, with outcomes built in from day one.

03

Digital and voice

Our website, gccaing.com, and our monthly newsletter are live. We are restarting our social channels to bring supporters closer to the work.

04

Partners and funding

Build relationships with schools, organisations and funders who share our goals.

HOW WE WILL JUDGE SUCCESS

Not by followers, events or headcount alone.

Are girls reaching more opportunities?

Are they better equipped to decide their futures?

Are the barriers getting smaller?

Do communities and partners trust us?

Can GCCAI fund and run its work reliably?

08 WORK WITH US

There is a place for you in this work.

Schools and organisations

- Co-design and host programmes with girls you already serve
- Share referrals, expertise and local knowledge
- Speak at or co-host Illuminate and other events

Funders and companies

- Fund a girl's school year or our first programme pilot
- Give in kind: sanitary products, learning materials, devices
- Offer staff as trained mentors and career speakers

Volunteers and mentors

- Clear roles in mentorship, research, communications, design and evaluation
- Each role has a set time commitment, a named lead and onboarding

Everyone

- Follow us on Instagram and join our newsletter at gccaing.com
- Share opportunities for girls with us
- Introduce us to someone who should know about this work
